2025 - 2029 Big Game Season Structure

Big game management in Colorado is built on two main planning processes: Herd Management Plans (also called Data Analysis Unit [DAU] Plans) and Big Game Season Structure (BGSS). Herd Management Plans establish population objectives and sex ratios for each of the state’s big game herds. BGSS defines a framework for achieving those objectives through hunting seasons for different species and methods. These two processes inform big game license recommendations through the annual rule-making process.

The BGSS planning process is a critical component of big game management and big game hunting regulation development and determines: 1) what, when, and where various types of big game hunting opportunities are available, and 2) how the timing of these opportunities are divided among hunters. Through this planning process, CPW can better maintain healthy wildlife populations in keeping with management objectives. While BGSS gives the framework to work in, there can also be extenuating circumstances that require special arrangements. In those situations, hunting opportunities (seasons and license distribution) can be limited or modified geographically to meet biological or social management objectives.

During the planning process for the 2025-2029 Big Game Season Structure, options were presented to the Commission at issue stage during the March and April 2024 meetings. Then the draft policy document was presented at the May 2024 commission meeting with final regulations to be adopted at the June 2024 commission meeting.

III. Plains Deer Seasons (East of I-25 except GMU 140)

Historically, season structure for deer east of I-25 (excluding GMU 140) has differed from those seasons west of I-25 and GMU 140. The timing and length of seasons in this region have been adjusted to accommodate the different pattern of land ownership, agricultural practices including the timing of crop harvesting, weather, and the size of deer populations in the eastern plains. Prior to deer licenses being limited statewide, they were limited east of I-25, excluding GMU 140. The limited Season Choice license will be retained in specified units. The Season Choice license allows hunting in any or all of the seasons in the specified plains unit(s) until the license is filled.

F. Archery - Plains Deer Season Structure
	Plains archery deer season will open on October 1 and run through December 31; in addition, archery season will close during those time periods when a plains rifle season is ongoing and in those GMUs where a late rifle season is occurring. XII. Youth

RR. Youth Preference

	A minimum of 15 percent of limited licenses for doe pronghorn, antlerless and either-sex deer, and antlerless elk in all seasons and manners of take, except public Ranching for Wildlife and Air Force Academy seasons, are available for youth ages 12-17 who meet hunter education requirements.
SS. Youth Participation – Deer and Elk Hunting
	Youth hunters with unfilled limited antlerless or either-sex elk or deer licenses will be permitted to hunt any open antlerless rifle season for that species within the same DAU after the original licensed season has closed. This alternative requires youth hunters to convert an unfilled either-sex elk or deer license to an antlerless license for the appropriate species prior to hunting in any antlerless season following the closure of the original licensed season.
TT. Youth Participation – Pronghorn Hunting
	Youth hunters with unfilled limited doe or either-sex pronghorn licenses will be permitted to hunt designated late pronghorn doe seasons statewide after the original licensed season has closed.
