

Andrew DuBois, Jeffco Open Space

Andrew is the Citizen Science coordinator for Jeffco Open Space. Andrew is a wildlife ecologist and conservation biologist with research interests in the distribution and persistence of animals within landscapes as well as their interactions with other organisms and their abiotic environment. Andrew believes education is a vital part of effective biological conservation.