

Suzanne Stephens, Aspen Valley Land Trust

Suzanne Stephens is a Colorado native who has been working in the land conservation field since 2001. She has been with Aspen Valley Land Trust since 2003, and became executive director in 2016. With a background in biology and naturalist education, and she is excited to bring together her love for Colorado, the outdoors, wildlife and the ranching community under one roof. She lives in Carbondale with her husband and daughter.