

Vanessa Mazal, Senior Colorado Program Manager

Vanessa manages Colorado operations, policy, and engagement for NPCA, an organization that has worked to protect national parks, and their interdependent public lands and communities.

Prior to joining NPCA in 2014, she conducted research, and developed campaigns and programs for several organizations working on Western land and water issues. Most recently, she managed a portfolio of public engagements and communications projects for the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. She holds an MA in environmental anthropology from the University of Washington.
